

Privacy statement

The Privacy statement of De Buck Travel N.V. informs you about how your personal data is being collected, processed and forwarded.

De Buck Travel N.V. respects the privacy of its clients, suppliers and personnel according to the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679 (called "GDPR" from here on), effective since 25 May 2018. De Buck Travel N.V. and its personnel (called "DBT" from here on) commit to protect the privacy of its clients, suppliers and personnel, and of other parties confiding their personal data to DBT. We publish this privacy statement for the benefit of all parties concerned. By sharing your data with De Buck Travel N.V. you agree with all conditions included in this privacy policy.

Protection of the personal data of clients of De Buck Travel N.V.:

Legal ground: The use of personal data of clients by DBT is limited to the data necessary to complete all required reservations and execute all the required arrangements relating to the travel plans, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project or the service delivered to the client. For no other purpose than the project or service in question, DBT will process this personal data. Only the DBT employees involved in the organisation, execution or administrative process of the project or service in question, will consult or process the personal data of the client. No personal data will be communicated to third parties who are not involved in the execution of the project or service of the client.

To process the personal data of children, the consent of one of the parents or the legal guardian is requested. By sharing the personal data of a child younger than 16 year with DBT by one of the parents or a legal guardian whom is client of DBT, it is considered a consent to process this data to execute the necessary reservations or arrangements to realise the travel plans or event of the client.

Data retention policy: the personal data of the client will be kept as long as post-interventions concerning the trip, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project or the provided service are required. Invoicing details are retained during the legal term imposed by the Belgian accountancy law (i.e. 7 years).

DBT requests suppliers, organisations or entities that are receiving the personal data of its clients, to commit to the GDPR regulations as well.

According to the destination of the trip, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project or the provided service, it is possible that the personal data of a client is being forwarded to suppliers or entities outside the European Union. This will only be the case if the execution of the project, the service or order requires this. External parties outside the European Union will also be requested by DBT to commit to the GDPR regulations when processing this data.

The above mentioned guidelines are also applicable for personal data received via the website, e-mail, correspondence or any other form of communication, communicated by potential clients, suppliers or persons of contact.

Deviation of the above mentioned clauses are only possible by written consent of the client concerned.

Protection of the personal data of suppliers of De Buck Travel N.V.:

Legal ground: DBT requests and processes only the personal data of suppliers, its employees or subcontractors required to allow the execution of a service or order for DBT as client. For no other purpose than the service or order in question, DBT will process this personal data.

Only the personal data of the supplier, its employees or subcontractors that are absolutely required to allow the execution of the service or order, are being processed. It mainly concerns contact details, identity card numbers and license plates, to make communication concerning the service or order possible, and to allow access to secured areas as harbours, airports, etc. for which a detailed personal identification is mandatory due to severe safety measures. These personal details are only used or communicated in order to make the execution of the service or order possible, and for no other purpose than this.

Only the DBT employees involved in the project for which this data is required, consult or process the personal data of the supplier, its employees or subcontractors involved. No personal data will be communicated to third parties who are not involved in the execution of the service or order in question.

Data retention policy: the personal data of the supplier, its employees or subcontractors will be kept as long as post-interventions concerning the trip, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project, the provided service or order are required.

Invoicing details are retained during the legal term imposed by the Belgian accountancy law (i.e. 7 years).

DBT requests suppliers, organisations or entities that are receiving the personal data of its suppliers (including its employees and subcontractors), to commit to the GDPR regulations as well

According to the destination of the trip, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project or the provided service, it is possible that the personal data of a supplier is being forwarded to suppliers or entities outside the European Union. This will only be the case if the execution of the project, the service or order requires this. External parties outside the European Union will also be requested by DBT to commit to the GDPR regulations when processing this data.

Deviation of the above mentioned clauses are only possible by written consent of the supplier concerned.

Protection of the personal data of employees of De Buck Travel N.V.:

Legal ground: The personal data of the personnel or subcontractors of DBT, needed to execute their assignment for DBT as employer, will only be used by DBT for this purpose. It concerns all personal data required for the personnel register, the social secretariat or other suppliers or entities involved to allow DBT to comply with the obligations of the industrial law.

Data retention policy: the personal data of the personnel of DBT will be kept during the time of employment, prolonged with the legally required storage time of five years.

DBT requests suppliers, organisations or entities that are receiving the personal data of its personnel, to commit to the GDPR regulations as well.

According to the destination of the trip, the congress, the event, the excursion, the project or the provided service, it is possible that the personal data of our employees is being forwarded to suppliers or entities outside the European Union.

Deviation of the above mentioned clauses are only possible by written consent of the employee concerned.

Protection of your personal data towards external third parties.

Personal data are data related to your name or personal identity.

DBT does not sell, rent or lease your personal data to other parties. DBT does not release your personal data to third parties that are not involved in any of the above mentioned activities without the consent of the person involved, unless the processing of this personal data is required by law.
